

Metro Schools Care

Dear Friend of Catholic Education,

We mean it when we say Metro Schools are "Schools that Care."

We care about every smiling child that enters our schools each morning. We care that each child's individual educational needs are met by dedicated, professional teachers who treat him or her as a child of God.

We care that each child receives the loving encouragement he or she needs to grow spiritually, intellectually, emotionally, and socially.

We care about the whole child. And we care that each child learns to care for others—classmates, friends, and especially the less privileged and the disadvantaged. It is a hallmark of our Metro Schools to care for each child in our schools, and, together, to care for the needy in our Northern Virginia neighborhoods and throughout the world. Metro Schools care!

Our Metro Schools, which teach kindergarten through 8th grade, are part of the Catholic Schools of the Arlington Diocese. Each offers a full academic program with high standards and a faith-based curriculum. We provide enrichment classes in music, art, physical education, library, computer technology, and required foreign language, starting in First Grade. Each school is accredited by the Virginia Catholic Education Association and every teacher meets the VCEA or Commonwealth of Virginia certification requirements. Our schools have a combined 424 year tradition of caring service to metropolitan Northern Virginia.
